Art Newsletter, Term Two 2016

This is going to be another very exciting term in the art room!

Students will continue to explore Vincent Van Gogh’s artwork, focussing on his Sunflower paintings. All students will create a sunflower bowl using different clay techniques to create a group installation for our 2016 Arts Festival.

In week four students will be introduced to the new theme of “The Underwater World”. Classes will be discover fish, coral, shells and other sea forms to create exciting clay forms.

Students will explore slab, coil and pinch pot techniques to create their clay works.

As part of our 2016 Arts Festival I would like to have a student art/craft stall where students will make items that will be sold at the Arts Festival.
They will make some art pieces during their art classes.

I am looking for parents to assist students with clay making in term two. Please sign in at the office beforehand to let staff know you are visiting the art room. You could also email me on the email below.

Grade 6 students will also complete their community tiles that will be added to the other graduation tiles that are installed in our school grounds.

Work has begun on our 2016 Arts Festival. If you are interested in assisting in any way please email me.

Thank you for your support!

PS: We desperately need egg cartons in the art room that we use for paint pallets. We also need newspaper.

Please drop them off in the art room when it suits you.

Again, thankyou!
